TRAINS BURIED BY AVALANCHE

More Than a Score of Lives Lost in Disaster.

PASSENGERS ARE THE VICTIMS

Most of the Killed, Injured and Missing Were Asleep on the Stalled Trains on the West Side of the Cascade Tunnel When the Accident Occurred—Twenty Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Seattle, Wash., March 2.—Sweeping down the steep mountainside on the west slope of the Cascade an avalanche of snow overwhelmed two Great Northern trains, three locomotives, four huge electric motor engines, and brought death to more than a score of persons, according to meager reports that have drifted in from Wellington, a station near the scene of the disaster.

Most of the dead are believed to have been passengers on the west-bound Great Northern express bound from Spokane to Seattle, which has been stalled in the mountains since last Thursday. They were asleep when the slide came.

The other train was the Transcontinental Fast Mail, which carried no passengers. Twenty bodies have been recovered, fifteen or twenty are injured, and twenty-five are missing. The two trains were in charge of Conductors Parzybook and Pettit, both of Everett. The fate of the train crews is not known.

The private car of Superintendent O'Neill of the Western division of the Great Northern was attached to the express and buried with the rest of the train.

Feared Secretary Longcoy Is Dead.

It is feared that A. E. Longcoy, private secretary to Superintendent O'Neill, is among the dead. O'Neill, who has been directing the fight against the snow blockade for the last ten days, was not in the car at the time and escaped injury.

The trains were overwhelmed near the west portal of the Cascade tunnel. All telegraph wires are down to within fifteen miles of the slide and it has been impossible to obtain the names of the dead and injured.

As soon as word of the disaster reached Everett, the Great Northern division point 100 miles west, a rescue train with physicians and nurses started for the scene. This was followed by a second rescue train carrying undertakers, wrecking outfits and laborers.

As sections of the railroad track have been carried away, farther down the mountains, the rescuers could only get within fifteen miles of Wellington and had to make the rest of the distance from scenic, a station 1,000 feet below the tunnel, by foot through the mountains. By taking a trail they can cut this distance to three miles.

The avalanche swept down the mountainside shortly after 4 o'clock in the morning. It was half a mile long. Most of the passengers on the train were asleep and received no warning of the danger. The trains and locomotives were buried by the debris and it was six hours after the avalanche before the rescue parties, made up from workers sent to attack the snowdrifts, located them.

Residents of Town Killed.

Reports received here say that the Great Northern power house, which furnishes electric power to operate trains through the Cascade tunnel, and the depot and water tank were swept away by the avalanches and the railroad boarding house was badly wrecked. A number of the dead and injured are railroad men and residents of Wellington.

The Spokane express has been stalled at Wellington since last Thursday. The passengers have been eating at the railroad boarding house and at nearby cottages, but returned to the Pullman cars at night.

Two days ago several passengers, fearing a catastrophe of this kind, asked Superintendent O'Neill to have the train moved back into the Cascade tunnel, where it would be protected. Mr. O'Neill is said to have declared that the train was perfectly safe on the siding at Wellington and ordered it left there.

Reports of the number of passengers marooned on the train vary. The railroad company claims that there were only thirty people on the train, but men who, tired of the delay, walked out over the snow to Skykomish, where they could get a train, say that more than sixty people were on board.

Besides the passengers several trainmen and laborers are supposed to be among the dead or injured.

Many Corporations File.

Chicago, March 2.—Returns from all sections of the country show that not more than 60 per cent of the corporations doing business in the United States filed schedules with the internal revenue collectors in compliance with the publicity clause of the new corporation tax law.

THREATENS TO STIR UP ROW

Letter Said to Have Been Written by President Taft.

Washington, March 2.—Current rumor has it a letter praising Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon and deriding the insurgent Republicans in congress has been written by President Taft to Lucius B. Swift of Indianapolis and it is threatening to stir up a row in the Republican ranks in congress and throughout the Central West, where insurgency is rife. According to report the president takes the position in the letter that both Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon are entitled to just praise for their services to the country as legislators, especially the former. As to Speaker Cannon the president is understood to have said that while he did not merit, perhaps, the eulogy given Senator Aldrich, at the same time he is not deserving of criticism aimed at him by the insurgents.

It is further understood that the president states in the letter that the result of Western insurgency will be a Democratic house of representatives, which, in his judgment, may satisfy the kickers in the Republican party. It is further said that some names of prominent insurgents in the house and senate appear in the text of the letter.

What occasioned the writing of such a letter is not yet public.

RATE COMPLAINT DROPPED

Northern Pacific Road's Schedule Upheld by Commission.

Washington, March 2.—The interstate commerce commission has dismissed the complaint of F. O. Hellstrom, warden of the North Dakota state penitentiary, against the Northern Pacific railway, in which it was alleged that the 50 cent rate on hemp from the Pacific coast to Bismarck is too large in proportion to the 55 cent rate to Chicago. The commission said that the competitive condition at Chicago justifies the rate in naming a rate from the Pacific coast to that point which is relatively lower than its rate to intermediate points at which the force of this competition is not felt, provided its rate to the more distant point is not so low as to be unremunerative.

DIPLOMAT'S NARROW ESCAPE

Washington, March 2.—The Norwegian minister to Washington, Ove Gude, and Madame Gude, narrowly escaped injury in an automobile accident. They were on their way from the legation to a dinner when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by a touring car. The smash broke the front portion of the carriage, partly releasing the horses and they started to run away. The coachman was thrown, lost control of the team and the carriage narrowly escaped being overturned. The horses stopped after a run of half a block.

Machinist Commits Suicide.

St. Paul, March 2.—Olaf G. Gansted, forty-eight years old, a machinist employed by the Parks Wagon company, committed suicide by hanging himself from a rafter in the tool house in the rear of the company's plant in St. Anthony Park. No motive for the deed is known.

Bank Teller Commits Suicide.

High River, Alta., March 2.—Charles Stanley Young, teller in the Dominion bank, was found on his bed at the rear of the bank with a bullet through his brain and a revolver by his side. Suicide was the verdict of the coroner's jury.

The Right Sort.

A young gentleman who submitted himself for the examination for diplomacy knew nothing about the subject and treated the questions in a highly imaginative manner. He thought that the check of his answers was enough to plow any man, but instead he was passed head of the list. Later he had an opportunity of asking one of the examiners the cause of his success.

"Oh," replied the examiner, "of course we saw that you knew nothing of your subject, but you took the matter so calmly and replied with so much resource, with such an entire freedom from any embarrassment, that we all said, 'That's the sort of man for diplomacy.'"—London Truth.

Whale Houses.

At one time not very long ago there was on the Lancashire coast, near Lytham, England, a cottage and boat-house that were made almost entirely from the remains of a score or so of whales that had been driven ashore some years before. The framework of the edifice consisted wholly of whalebone, and the dried skins of the huge creatures were neatly and strongly fastened as a covering for the walls and the roof.

There is another building of exactly the same kind at Peterhead, in Scotland, and in this case the skulls of the whales and some of the heavier bones are used with great effect as outside ornaments.—Exchange.

THE FENCIBLES.

Members of Military Company That Mob Slugged.

OPPOSES SURFACE TITLES

North Dakota Man Protests Against Lignite Proposition.

Washington, March 2.—Complaint against the operation of a conservation idea, before it is put into the form of actual law, comes here from North Dakota. The complaint is brought here by State Senator Overton of that state, who is protesting to the public land officials and the congressional delegation against special agents of the department using their influence to induce settlers on the lignite lands in Western North Dakota to take the surface of lands only, leaving the title to the lignite beds in the government. This idea is embodied in the conservation bills pending before Senator Nelson's committee on public lands, but has not been put into form of law.

WITHDRAW STATE POLICE FROM DUTY

Pennsylvania Authorities Take Them From Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 2.—With the withdrawal of the last detachment of state police on duty here and the discharge from further strike service of the State Fencibles, this city gave up the only evidence of anything resembling martial law which has existed here since the carmen's strike began eleven days ago.

To fill the place of the state troops a special cavalry force was organized by the city authorities. Not an act of disorder has been reported in any section of the city.

Interest centered in the efforts of business men, ministers and others to induce the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company to listen to proposals of arbitration. After a special meeting of the board of directors the company again announced there would be no arbitration.

C. O. Pratt, the leader of the striking trolley men, however, says he still hopes for a satisfactory settlement of the differences before the sympathetic strike becomes effective on Saturday.

Plans are being arranged for a large mass meeting in favor of the strikers.

Six shots were fired directly opposite the office of Mayor Reyburn by some one who rode up in an automobile. It is not known whether the shooting was done by some practical joker or some person of serious intent.

A detective jumped in a taxicab and gave chase, but the automobile had gained a big lead and was soon lost sight of.

Mayor Reyburn arrived at his office about an hour after the shooting. He seemed inclined to make light of the incident, but said significantly:

"We will get the people who did it." He would not say whether he suspected their identity or whether he believed the shots were fired with intent to harm himself or any one.

Aged Wanderer Insane.

Grafton, N. D., March 2.—Wandering about the prairie at night alone and neglecting to care for his stock Andrew Olson of Latona township this county, was picked up in a pitiable condition. Olson, who is sixty-one years of age, had apparently been in the best of health and soundest of mind up to about two weeks ago, when he began to act queerly. His night roaming on the prairies resulted in his arrest, and he was taken to the asylum at Jamestown.

Rejects Commission Plan.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 2.—By a vote of 608 to 459 Grand Forks rejected the commission plan of municipal government in a special election. Attended by no unusual incidents and following a campaign which has been unique in the city's history the defeat of the plan came somewhat as a surprise, as there had been no active agitation by opponents against it till four days ago.

PINCHOT AND WILSON CLASH

Secretary of Agriculture Denies Former Forester's Story.

ADMITS HIS MEMORY IS POOR

But Aged Cabinet Member Again and Again Asserts That He Never Would Have Given Mr. Pinchot Permission to Write the Letter That Caused His Separation From the Service.

Washington, March 2.—The expected clash between Gifford Pinchot and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson over the disputed question as to whether or not the secretary had given the former forester permission to write to Senator Dooliver the letter which resulted in Mr. Pinchot's dismissal occurred before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Pinchot declared he had discussed the matter at length with Secretary Wilson and that he understood his superior officer had given him express permission to write to Senator Dooliver.

Secretary Wilson immediately took the stand and asserted that while he had given Mr. Pinchot permission to write to Senator Dooliver concerning "departmental affairs," he never did, and never would, have given him permission to write a letter criticizing the president of the United States.

Became Somewhat Mixed.

Under cross-examination, almost wholly by the Democratic members of the committee, Secretary Wilson was uncertain as to just what had passed between himself and the forester and became somewhat mixed at times as to just what letters the committeemen were referring to in their rapid fire of questions. The secretary reiterated again and again he never saw or heard of the letter Mr. Pinchot wrote until it was read in the senate.

The elderly secretary of agriculture, who holds all records for cabinet service, was plainly agitated when he took the stand. Mr. Pinchot had been reluctant to testify to anything that would bring him into controversy with the chief under whom he had served twelve years. But the chairman insisted he should go into the matter.

Mr. Pinchot declared that he and Secretary Wilson went so far as to discuss the executive order issued by President Taft forbidding subordinate officers of the various departments from giving information to congress and he added that the secretary said: "You and I will have no trouble about that order."

Admitting that his memory failed him, as to certain points, Secretary Wilson always came back to the statement that never, under any circumstances, would he have given Mr. Pinchot permission to write the letter which caused his separation from the service.

YOUNG ROCKEFELLER QUILTS

Resigns as Director of the Steel Corporation.

New York, March 2.—Announcement has been made that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has resigned as a director of the United States Steel corporation and is succeeded by Henry Walters of Baltimore, chairman of the Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic Coast line system of railroads and a close personal friend of J. P. Morgan.

According to common belief the Rockefeller holdings of United States Steel shares were at one time very large, so large in fact as to make them a factor in the affairs of the corporation. It is denied, however, that Mr. Rockefeller's resignation was due to any friction or differences of opinion with the Morgan interests.

PLEADS IN VAIN FOR LIFE

Wyoming Woman Shot by Drunk-Crazed Husband

Sheridan, Wyo., March 2.—While on her knees with hands clasped over her head piteously pleading for her life, Anna Cummings was shot by her drunk-crazed husband, Jack Cummings, who leaned over her head and sent a bullet into her back.

Seeing her relapse into unconsciousness, Cummings, believing his bullet had reached a mortal point, placed the muzzle of the gun under his jaw and pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through his head and he pitched forward dead.

The woman is alive and probably will recover.

Divorce proceedings instituted by the woman are said to have actuated the husband.

Hudson River Rising.

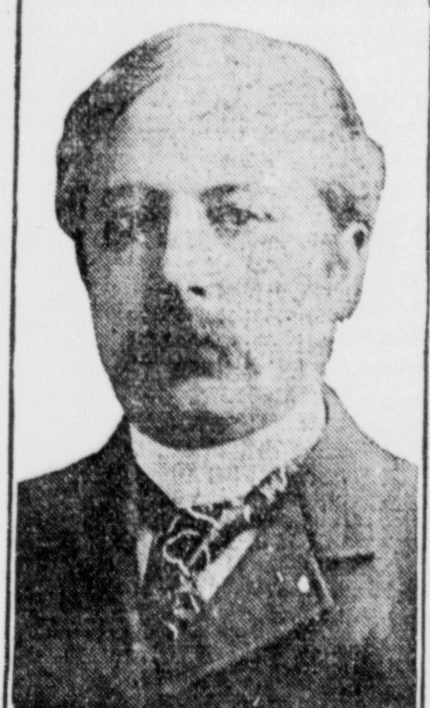

Albany, N. Y., March 2.—The Hudson river is eighteen feet above normal level and is still rising. The southern portion of the city lying along the river is inundated.

Aged Man a Suicide.

Janesville, Wis., March 2.—Henry Spohn, aged seventy-five, committed suicide by jumping into Rock river.

WILLIS L. MOORE.

BACKS UP HIS STATEMENTS

Washington, March 2.—Backing up his statements as to the effect of erosion on floods and contending that there had been too many reckless opinions given by the forestry advocates, Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, appeared before the house committee on agriculture in connection with the Weeks bill relating to purchase of lands in the Appalachian system.

Professor Moore contended that data covering minutely the past twenty-eight years showed that the average flow of the Ohio river had not changed during that time; that the average high and low water had not markedly changed and that the actual number of flood days had been less in the last part of the twenty-eight-year period than in the earlier part, despite the argument of the other side of the controversy as to the effect of denudation of the forests.

He said he believed the erosion of the mountainsides had a beneficial effect, for it washed on to the level reaches of land that could be cultivated; he believed in reforestation of the slopes only in case the timber so grown could be sold to commercial advantage. He was heartily in favor of legislation that really conserved and protected national resources, but not of the wholesale forestry so much agitated. He foresaw no danger of forest famine, he declared.

INADEQUATE TO MEET DEMANDS

Gronna Wants More Money for Rural Mail Routes.

Washington, March 2.—Representative Gronna of North Dakota forced from Chairman Weeks of the house committee on postoffices and post roads a declaration that there was a prospect of a committee bill carrying a heavy appropriation for the extension of rural mail routes and increased pay for rural carriers.

Mr. Gronna secured the floor to advocate an appropriation of $5,000,000 for new rural routes and a readjustment and increase of rural carrier salaries.

Mr. Gronna is a member of the Republican-Democratic committee that is urging on the house committee on postoffices and post roads the establishment of a standard route of twenty-four miles and a minimum salary of $1,200.

The pending bill carries an appropriation for new rural routes of about $500,000. Mr. Gronna insisted this was inadequate to meet the demands of the people. He warned the house that rural delivery was the most popular service of the postoffice department and that, more than any other single agency, it was reconciling farmers to farm life. The need of farmers, he said, was the greatest economic question of the day.

To Establish Demonstration Tracts.

St. Paul, March 2.—In accordance with suggestions made by Governor Eberhart at the annual banquet of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial Clubs, held in St. Paul last December, Curtis L. Mosher, secretary of the federation, and members of the faculty and governing board of the Minnesota college of agriculture have practically completed plans for the establishment throughout the state of demonstration tracts where farmers and others interested in the scientific working of farms may receive expert instruction.

Would Help Printer.

Washington, March 2.—Complying with letters and telegrams received from printers in Minnesota, Representative Tawney has decided to present an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill prohibiting the post office department from printing return cards on stamped envelopes.

URNS STREAMS INTO TORRENTS

BAN ON TOBACCO.

Pennsylvania Railroad Giving Preference to Nonusers of the Weed.

Employees of the Pennsylvania railroad at Pittsburgh have been ordered to refrain from the use of tobacco while on duty and also have been requested to break themselves of the habit. Applicants for positions are questioned closely regarding tobacco, and scores who admitted themselves confirmed tobacco users have failed to get positions.

As yet the order has been applied only to office forces and to those handling passenger trains.

American Cultural Exhibit.

The American commission for the American exposition to be held in Berlin from July 4 to Oct. 1, 1910, announced recently that a special department of the exposition would be devoted to American culture in its broadest sense. A. von Aymel, a German author, has been appointed a member of the advisory committee to take charge of the cultural department.

Social Club For Chauffeurs.

The uplift movement for chauffeurs received an impetus recently in New York when Justice Gerard in the supreme court signed the papers incorporating the Chauffeurs' Social club. The first object of the organization is to "purchase and own a library and reading room."

Lamp Explosion Proves Fatal.

Menominee, Mich., March 2.—Frank Pouwette died as the result of burns sustained by the explosion of a lamp.

They Were All Tired.

The parlor entertainer has some amusing experiences, although he does not always tell them against himself. One who appreciates a joke, however, relates that on a certain occasion he had been performing at an "at home" and responding to so many encores that the program became unusually long.

After it was over his hostess, with her young daughter, came to him and after congratulating him on the success of the afternoon said cordially: "Oh, Mr. Blank, come and have some refreshments and sit down awhile. I know you must be awfully tired."

"Yes," chimed in the sweet young daughter, with the best intentions in the world; "I'm sure we are."

Ersine's Puns.

A great wit of the Scottish bar was the Hon. Harry Ersine, who was lord advocate. Though punning is not, as a rule, a high form of wit, with Ersine it became a fine art. On one occasion he undertook to pun on the subject of his friend's first sentence. His friend began, "The king"—Harry intervened. "The king," he said, "is no subject." Again, a Mr. Dunlop challenged him to pun on his name. "Nothing easier," said Ersine. "Lop off the last syllable and it is done."—London Standard.

Curious Remedies.

In Lincolnshire if a girl is suffering with the ague she cuts off a lock of her hair and ties it to an aspen tree, imploring the latter to shake in her stead. In good old Ross-shire, where every once in a while a rooster is buried alive as a remedy for epilepsy—not in the rooster, but in the person who does the burying—some of the hair of the patient is generally added to the offering.—London Standard.

Warm Weather Causes Floods in the West.

IN PUGET SOUND COUNTRY

Rivers Already at the Danger Point and Still Rising—Slides of Snow, Earth and Rock Cover Railroad Tracks in the Mountains—Principal Town of the Palouse Section Cut Off by the Floods.

Seattle, Wash., March 2.—Warrr wind and rain caused rapid melting of snow in the Cascade mountains, bringing slides of snow, earth and rock down on the railroad tracks and turning the mountain streams to torrents.

The Northern Pacific canceled two trains each way, and its other trains ignored time tables and crept cautiously past points where danger threatened. The Great Northern, whose main line is buried for ten miles and which is operating only one transcontinental train each way via Vancouver, Wash., was further embarrassed by a washout on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle road.

In the Puget Sound country the streams are already at the danger point. The rainfall here was light, but heavy precipitation along the coast points to a downpour. The railroads have wrecking trains ready and settlers in the valleys are preparing to move.

On the eastern slope of the Cascades cold weather is checking the thaw.

Colfax, the principal town of the Palouse country, is cut off by the floods. Railroad and electric lines are blocked, bridges washed out and the water is from two to five feet deep in the business streets. No lives have been lost.

Cedar River Rising.

Cedar river, which supplies Seattle's drinking water, is rapidly rising and threatens to carry out the city's intake pipe, thirty miles up in the mountains.

Transcontinental traffic by way of Ogden, Utah, is as completely tied up as never before. The flood situation on the Southern Pacific west of Ogden remains unchanged. There is little likelihood that traffic will be resumed within the next twenty-four hours. The greatest damage is at Lory, 130 miles west of Ogden, where 150 feet of the roadbed is washed away and a waterway seventy-five feet deep has been formed. The company has a large force of men building a bridge over the chasm.

Reports from the flood district of Nevada are that water is higher than for forty years, and portions of track are swept away as fast as it is repaired. The Reese river is reported as still rising.

Advices from Caldwell, Ida., report that city in danger of destruction by the raging waters of Indian creek, which has suddenly overflowed its banks and inundated the entire city. Already damage estimated at $200,000 has been done, and unless the weather turns colder at once, the loss to property will be doubled.

Main street is three feet under water, while Arthur street is a rushing river ten feet deep.

Many are leaving the city and seeking safety in the hills, while hundreds of persons have been driven to the second floors of their homes.

WORRY OVER HIS FINANCES

Prompts South Dakota Man to Shoot His Wife.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 2.—While Mrs. John A. Johnson sat at the sewing machine in her home in Edmunds county, thirty miles west of here, her husband shot her above the eye from where he lay on a lounge. Then he fired three bullets in her prostrate form and ran to a neighbor's, declaring his wife sick. He went on toward town and was captured by a posse.

Worry over finances is believed to have inspired the deed, as he said he had intended to kill himself, but lost his nerve. He was reputed wealthy and recently sold his farm for removal to Oregon.

Thousands Homeless.

Cleveland, March 2.—Fully 2,000 people are homeless in Ohio as a result of the flood which is still sweeping over the state. At Zanesville alone 1,000 persons are reported as having been driven from their homes. At Warren over 300 people were rescued from their houses in boats.

Accepts Duluth Franchise.

Duluth, March 2.—The Canadian Northern railroad filed notice that it will accept the franchise offered it by the city. The road, under the franchise, must construct its line to Duluth from Virginia within three years. It pays the cost of street improvements and must maintain terminals. This marks the close of a long fight with the road, and the city gets practically all that it asked.

Court Mississippi, No. 55, U. O. F., held its first meeting in Odd Fellows' hall last night. This is the first meeting they have held in any hall since the Columbian block burned last October, so they have been meeting with Mrs. C. F. Beugnot in the Walker block. After the meeting a nice lunch was served and all those present had a good time. The Odd Fellows are to be congratulated on their hall, as it is certainly the finest one in the city, and reflects great credit to that order.

Have you seen them? Those "Boost for Brainerd" buttons. They are very pretty and it looks like you took some pride in your home town to see you wearing a button that proclaims you one of the boosters. 227t6

Miss Laura G. Whittaker and Miss Mary A. Strangways, for a long time superintendent and assistant superintendent of nurses at the Northern Pacific hospital, left yesterday noon for Prosser, Wash., where they have purchased fruit lands and where they will make their future home. Miss Maud Manning will be superintendent and Miss Nellie Rose assistant superintendent of nurses at the hospital. Both are graduates of the nurses training school conducted at this hospital and are eminently fitted for the positions. A host of friends regret to see Miss Whittaker and Miss Strangways leave Brainerd, but wish them success in their new home.

The Dispatch reporter had an experience Wednesday night which proved how easily there might be unjust suspicion of incendiarism. He was awakened by the light flickering on the wall of the bed room and looking out discovered a brush pile on a vacant lot adjoining, afire. Near the brush pile was an oak tree full of dry leaves and from that a line of lack plines close up to the house. Had the brush pile got well afire and blazed up high enough to catch the leaves on the oak, the fire would have communicated to the buildings. As they are offered for sale, the very first thought, had they burned, which would come to the minds of all, would be that the owner had "sold to the insurance company." A neighbor, who had just moved in, thinking the snow covered brush heap was a big ash heap, had piled papers thereon and set them on fire. The heat melted the snow and set fire to the brush.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Brainerd Citizens Show the Certain Way Out

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes of any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Brainerd citizen says:

Mrs. Caroline Sundberg, 1504 E. Pine St., S. E. Brainerd, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have earned my highest endorsement. I suffered for several years from backache and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I was annoyed by dizzy spells after standing for awhile, and at times my feet became swollen and painful. The doctors I consulted said I was suffering from kidney trouble, but their medicines failed to help me. Finally I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box from a drug store and since using this remedy I have been troubled but little by pain in my back and my feet have not swelled. If my experience will help other kidney sufferers I give this statement gladly."

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

He feeds his stock carefully, avoids over-feeding and selects the stock food that he believes will give the best return in strength and general efficiency.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats."

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals. Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

G. N. EXTENSION CONSIDERED

Designed as Short Cut For Western Traffic to the Twin Cities

Duluth, Minn., March 1.—Persistent reports in railroad circles in Duluth are to the effect that the Great Northern is planning to build a line between Mississippi in northern Aitkin county, directly south to a continuation with its line at Mora. The Twin Cities' freight from the West would be diverted over the new line from Swan River Junction south instead of coming around by Duluth and Superior.

It is stated in this section also that it may be the intention of the Great Northern to cut through to Cambridge on the Coon Creek division instead of Mora.

A prominent Duluth man in speaking of this proposed new extension of the Great Northern says that he is reliably informed that two routes are being considered.

One is as described and the other is a route from Mille Lacs to Deer River, the line passing west of and close to Mille Lacs lake.

In either case the line will be designed as a short cut for Western traffic to the Twin Cities.

CUYUNA ORE TO GO TO ASHLAND

ARRANGEMENT IS TEMPORARY

Railroad Company to Have New Docks on Superior Bay—One Shipping Mine

The Cuyuna range will have at least one shipping mine this season, says the Duluth News Tribune, and possibly a number of other properties of known commercial qualities and importance may enter the shipping list late in the fall. The shipper this season will be the Kennedy mine, controlled by the Rogers-Brown interests, and the ore will be hauled to Ashland for delivery to the boats, being carried there by the Soo line and the ore will be delivered to the boats through the Soo line docks on Chequamegon bay. The Cuyuna division of the Soo road will deliver the ore to the main line at Moose Lake and will serve the several mines which are being opened up. The Cuyuna Range will, it is expected, enjoy a growing importance as a producer of iron ore from year to year.

The shipping of ore from the Cuyuna to Ashland is a temporary arrangement and will be effective this year only. The Cuyuna ores will be shipped after this year over docks to be constructed on Superior bay for that purpose.

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

Hints for Stock Owners

The ram should not run with the ewes during the winter.

Never breed a ewe lamb until past its first birthday.

Breeding too young will stunt the young ewe, and the loss in the long run will be more than the gain.

Pigs are quick money, for in six or seven months they are ready for market at a big profit if well fed and cared for.

If sows are to farrow in February or March put them in warm, well ventilated quarters, where they can exercise.

If pigs show an unthrifty condition something is wrong in the feed or management. Find out the trouble and remedy it or you will lose money.

No man is fitted to train horses who is not thoroughly sympathetic and brimful of horse sense.

Every man who raises one colt or many should realize the great importance of early education.

This should begin when the colt is only a few days old.

If tied at first with a strong, well-fitted halter that will withstand all trials to break a string will hold him ever after.

Never omit the kicking strap when the colt is first hitched up.

The best way to ruin a horse is to saw on his bit when he gets a little out of line. There may be other methods, but that's the best one we can think of just now.—From February Farm Journal.

The Oregon Short Line has started a new plan of pushing the country through which it runs. A special train is to be run carrying a baggage car with implements for the farm and garden samples of orchard heaters. These heaters are used to prevent damage to orchards by late spring frosts. Most of them burn crude oil, which it is said can be laid down at the orchards for five cents per gallon. It is said to be possible to furnish perfect protection from frost at a figure which renders it a very profitable investment. Besides demonstrating these heaters the train will carry men to give instruction in potato culture. The lectures will be given daily and for the most part in the cars attached to the special train. The field of operation will be southern Idaho and Northern Utah.

Sale of Dry Goods Stock and Fixtures

The undersigned will receive sealed bids for the stock of dry goods, furniture and fixtures of Richard Parker, located at 704 Front Street, Brainerd, Minnesota, up to 5 p. m., on March 8th, 1910. Reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

Mr. Parker suffered a loss by fire in the year 1907, and re-opened about November, 1908, with practically a new stock and new fixtures. The stock is in splendid shape and the fixtures are especially attractive. The store is modern and up-to-date in every respect.

The stock invoices about $9,500, and furniture and fixtures about $2,500.

This is a new stock, new fixtures, and in a new building well located, and with the most excellent prospects for this city, it should be a particularly attractive proposition for the right party. The store has been in continuous operation. Stock can be inspected at any time. Arrangements can be made with the owner for future renting of building.

F. A. FARRAR, Trustee, Brainerd, Minn.

Stop That Cold
That Knife Like Cough

You can stop its murderous attacks very quickly with Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, that smooth, cool, soothing, pleasant tasting liquid germicide. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey contains no habit forming drug—nothing harmful. It is mainly real old-fashioned pine-tar and honey, but combined in a special way. It is not just a cough pacifier. It removes the cause of coughs and colds. It cuts the mucous, dislodging it naturally, killing the germs of cold at the same time. Then it heals and soothes the irritation so the coughing is stopped almost at once. Millions know the great comfort of this almost marvelous remedy. It is the largest selling cough and cold medicine in the world.
Fortunately it tastes so good that children love to take it. Made by a known scientific process, with contents shown on the bottle. The standard for 20 years.
Every time you sneeze, shiver, sniffle, cough or feel "full in the head" take a little of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and you will ward off the trouble. Keep it always in the house. That's the right way. At all druggists in 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Look for our trade mark (the bell) and Grady Metcalf's picture on the bottle.

"Now, my friend," said Bennett pleasantly when he and the boss were alone together, "what are you going to do about it? It seems to me your game is up."

"I want those notes!" panted Horrigan, finding coherent speech with an effort through his red mist of rage.

"Why? They're not yours. They aren't made over to you, and there is no cancellation stamp on them. They are the property of the Sturtevant Trust company, and I'll send them back there tomorrow—after I've had them photographed."

"You'll give them to me," shouted Horrigan, his mighty body vibrating with fury, "or you'll never leave this room alive!"

"You're a fool, Horrigan," remarked Bennett, with condescending calm, "for you don't even know the right man to bully!"

He gazed undimly into the maddened little eyes of the boss, and so for a moment they stood—patrician and proletarian—in the world old struggle of the two for supremacy.

Then swung the battle of wills, both men And then standing motionless, waged the battle of wills, both men standing motionless, tense, vibrant with dynamic force.

Slowly, little by little, Horrigan's eyes dropped. He moved awkwardly to one side from his position in front of the door and Bennett, without so much as a backward look, passed out.

The boss, like a man in a daze, sank heavily into a chair and gazed straight ahead of him, his usually red face gray and pasty.

"If there was you couldn't be of use to us, so why should I talk about it to you?"

"You would?" cut in Horrigan sharply.

"Yes, yes! Only give me a chance! I'd"

Horrigan considered, then said reflectively:

"No chance is too slight to take at a time like this, and nobody's too rotten to be of use. I've found there are

But he was not to enjoy even the scant boon of solitude. From the ante room Gibbs strolled in.

"They're going over some unimportant preliminary business," remarked the broker, "so I came out for a breath of fresh air. How are things going?"

"We're beat," grunted Horrigan, not looking up.

"If I can stand it, you can!" he snarled. "You only lose your percentage on the deal, while I—"

"A percentage?" echoed Gibbs, too panic stricken to heed his own indiscretion. "Every cent I had in the world! I—"

He checked himself an instant too late.

"So?" drawled Horrigan, his keen little eyes searing the other with boundless contempt. "So it was you who were secretly buying up the stock and tailing in on to our game, hey?"

"I'm ruined! Broke! And—"

"I—I didn't mean any harm!" mumbled the crushed Gibbs. "It couldn't hurt you people to have me buy Borough stock for myself, and I'd have cleared up a million and more. Oh, don't glower like that, Horrigan, but try to think out some way of—"

"Of what, you cur?"

"Isn't there any way even now to make Bennett let up on his fight?"

"If there was you couldn't be of use to us, so why should I talk about it to you?"

"You would?" cut in Horrigan sharply.

"Yes, yes! Only give me a chance! I'd"

"No chance is too slight to take at a time like this, and nobody's too rotten to be of use. I've found there are three things, one of which will always buy any man—a woman, ambition or cash. We've tried Bennett on ambition; he doesn't need money, so only the first of the three remains."

"A woman? I don't understand."

"But—"

"Listen here. Bennett's in love with Wainwright's niece. You've cut him out. Go and tell him if he'll let our bill alone you'll smash the engagement and leave her free to marry him. See?"

"I can't! I—hold on, though! Afterward I could deny the whole thing, couldn't I? It'd be his word against mine, and she'd never believe I could do such a thing. I—I might try."

"Yes," growled Horrigan, "you might. A cur that's lost all his nerve can try things that even an ordinary crook would balk at."

But Gibbs did not hear. He had returned to the corridor in search of Bennett. The man scarcely deserved the opprobrium heaped on him by Horrigan. A brilliant, daring operator, he was, unknown to himself, a rank coward at heart. For the first time in his life the cowardice had cropped out, and, to do Gibbs justice, it had driven him temporarily insane. In his normal senses he would never have stooped to the plan he was now so eager to carry out. It was a pitiful bit of jettison at which a financially drowning man did not scruple to clutch.

Horrigan followed him from the room, his own splendid nerve quite recovered from the crushing blow his hopes had received. He had staked heavily on the deal. Moreover, its failure, as he knew, meant the wreck of that mighty political prestige he had so long and wearily built up. It might even, if Alwyn fulfilled his threat about the notes, lead to graver personal consequences. Yet the bulldog pluck that had carried this man of iron from the gutter to the summit of political power did not desert him, nor did he show the loss of one lota of his customary monumental calm.

The Shah's Dagger.

One of the treasures of the shah of Persia is a diamond set in one of his scimiters, which renders its possessor invincible. There is also a dagger with the same property, but it is ordained that those who use it should perish by it. It is therefore carefully shut up in a sandalwood box on which is engraved a verse from the Koran.—Chicago News.

Early Mail Service in Maine.

In 1733 individuals hired a man to go from Castine to Wiscasset and carry letters and papers once a fortnight. He walked the whole distance over the route. The next year postmasters were appointed and mail sent once a week by carriers on horseback. Rufus Crane, the first postmaster in Warren, collected 20 cents as his pay for his first three months of work.—Lewiston Journal.

A Chariot of 1711.
Something like a couple of centuries ago the principle of the taxicab was known. An advertisement in the London Daily Courant of Jan. 13, 1711, announces that at the sign of the Seven Stars, under the piazza of Covent Garden, a chariot was on view that would travel without horses and measure the miles as it goes. It was capable of turning and reversing and could go uphill as easily as on level ground.

The Spider as an Ague Cure.

In some parts of England the spider was formerly believed to be an efficient cure for ague. A Somersetshire vicar remarks: "One of my parishioners suffering from ague was advised to catch a large spider and shut him up in a box. As he pines away the disease is supposed to wear itself out." In the south of Ireland a large house spider enveloped in treacle or preserve was used for the same complaint.
